Dear Parents, Carers and Students,

Well-Being and Learning Skills Webinars - January through to March

We find ourselves in another challenging time; the New Year has begun in a difficult way. We are always here for our students, parents, young people and staff we support and want to offer practical help to everyone we support.

I am pleased to share with you some exciting and innovative webinars designed to support well-being and develop learning skills that we can all access. Andrew Wright from Action Your Potential, an innovative company whom we work closely with, are running webinars for all of our families during January, February and March. Please find details below.

Action Your Potential's mission is to help everyone in our school community to become a #NeuroNinja, someone who lives inside their amazing brain knowing how it works so they can get the best out of it every day so please do consider signing up.
